Notice.

The members of the Democratic Executive Committee for Mason County are requested to meet at the law office of Whitaker & Robertson in the city of Maysville on Monday, the 12th day of December next. A full attendance is requested, as business of importance will come before it for action. Respectfully,
EMERY WHITAKER,
Ch'm'n Executive Committee Mason Co.

The Ohio river should be locked and dammed.

The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette thinks Prohibition has seen its best day.

If that railroad was only completed to Ashland now, Maysville would have all the coal she needed—perhaps.

There is promise of some lively contests at the approaching city election. The more the merrier—for the "boys."

An effort is being made at Lexington to raise $20,000 to erect a Democratic club-house. Nearly $7,000 was subscribed in three days.

The annual city election is drawing near, and new candidates are coming to the front. Messrs. Robt. Ficklin and Wm. C. Shackelford announce themselves to-day for councilmen, the one in the Fourth ward and the other in the Second. Both are well-known citizens, closely identified with the best interests of Maysville. Their announcements will be found elsewhere.

BIG STONE GAP, the meeting point on the dividing line between Virginia and Kentucky, where the Louisville and Nashville, the Norfolk and Western, and several other railroads will concentrate next spring, is booming. The Louisville and Nashville have taken an option on some sixty acres of land where the town is to be for $32,000, and the Norfolk and Western has also, it is said, bought heavily. The latter road now has 4,600 hands at work on their extension from Bristol to Big Stone Gap.—Baltimore Manufacturers' Record.

The railroads now being constructed to that point are certain to work a wonderful change, and the men who put money there now are apt to realize handsomely on the investment in a few years.

Stock and Crops.

The potato crop the past year is estimated at about 134,000,000 bushels.

Dogs killed twenty-four sheep last week for A. P. Gooding, Jr., of Harrison County.

Robert Kirk bought forty-six head of sheep at Mt. Olivet last week at $3.50 and $4 per head.

William Gault, of Murphysville, left for Cincinnati last night with twenty-three cattle and forty hogs.

J. P. Chinn, of Harrodsburg, has lost five head of his thoroughbred racers by distemper that settled into blood poison.

Nearly two hundred of the best cattle in Clark County were shipped last week by W. B. Kidd to England as Christmas beef.

The Commissioner of Agriculture places the total yield of corn this year at 1,435,000,000 bushels, and the total cotton crop at 6,800,000 bales.

The Dwyer Bros. started seventeen horses in 172 races this year, winning fifty-six races and $171,597. Hanover heads the list with $89,772 to his credit.

It is reported that Mr. Haggin has offered the jockey Garrison $13,000 as a retainer with $25 additional on winning and $10 on losing mounts for the next racing season.

Peter Anderson, of North Middleton, Bourbon County, has purchased 125,000 pounds of tobacco from different parties to be delivered there in winter condition, at 16 cents a pound.

Some of the farmers of Bracken County are burning their tobacco beds for next year's crop. They claim that it is better now than to wait until February when the ground is too wet.

A Wonderful Freak of Nature is sometimes exhibited in our public exhibitions. When we gaze upon some of the peculiar freaks of nature occasionally indulged in, our minds revert back to the creation of man, "who is so fearfully and wonderfully made." The mysteries of his nature have been unraveled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, and through his knowledge of those mysteries he has been able to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a specific for all blood taints, poisons and humors, such as scrofula, pimples, blotches, eruptions, swellings, tumors, ulcers and kindred affections. How Six Indians Died.

In 1881 I was hunting some lost horses in the broken country west of the Big Horn river. I had ridden all morning over a country that was strange to me. About 11 o'clock I crossed a plateau and was surprised to come suddenly to the edge of a canyon, the existence of which I had not even suspected. In the canyon was a stream with clumps of cottonwood timber along its banks, and in one of the open spaces was an Indian lodge. The Indians that hunted in that country were peaceable, but the war was just over and the Sioux were feeling rather sore. If they were Crows or Arapahoes I might get some information about my horses. I lay down and watched. No smoke came from the tepees; no one moved around it; half a dozen ponies grazed a few hundred yards distant. There was not even a dog, which looked rather suspicious.

After waiting five minutes I knew no more than at first. Suddenly three white tailed deer came from the timber and walked leisurely across the opening. Then I knew that the camp was deserted, and the strangeness of it startled me. I mounted and rode down to the creek, and straight to the tepee. I threw back the flap, and I shall remember what I saw until death. In the center of the tepee was spread a buffalo robe, and on the robe were guns and scalp and many arrows; and there was also food done up as for a journey; and, sitting cross-legged in a circle around the robe, were six graves of the Sioux nation. All were in their prime—all decked out in war paint, and each one held a bow and arrow in his hand. On every face was an expression of calm indifference, as of one who neither suffers nor enjoys, neither hopes nor fears. The faces were those of dead men, and the smallpox had marked them with its awful mark. They took their misery with their heads up, and even the horrors of this disease could leave upon their hearts no stain of fear, upon their brows no mark of suffering. And this that their God might judge them men, and fit them to pitch their camps "braver in the groves and green fields of paradise."—Cor. Washington Star.

Looking Up Unconscious People.

More care should be taken by the police in the looking up of persons brought in from the streets in an unconscious condition. The policeman always assumes that a man lying on the street, without sense or motion, is drunk. The hoodlum wagon is summoned, and the limp form carried to the calaboose and hustled into a cell. In the morning the prisoner fails to respond to the call to come out. He is dragged out, and then it is found that he is dead. The police report reads that "a chronic drunkard was picked up on the street yesterday in an unconscious condition and taken to station. During the night he died of alcoholism. The coroner returned a verdict in accordance with the facts." Now the facts may be that there was no alcoholism in the case. There are a hundred causes that will reduce a person to unconsciousness. Often the man picked up should be taken to the hospital in an ambulance, and not to the calaboose in a hoodlum wagon. These cases are of such frequent recurrence as to warrant serious attention. During the heated term there were a number of such deaths. In New York city there is a qualified physician at each police station to guard against just such accidents.—Dr. Gib Carson in Globe-Democrat.

Souvenir of the Confederacy.

H. C. Thaxton, the tax collector of Butts county, Ga., has in his possession a copper souvenir of the late Confederacy. It is about the size of a copper cent, and on one side is a Confederate flag in the center, and around it are the letters, "Our flag," and the date, 1863. On the other side are the words, "If any one attempt to tear it down, shoot him on the spot," with the word "Dixie" in the center.—Chicago News.

ATTICA, O., Nov. 29.—Some months ago a dispatch was received here announcing that Frank Cantwell, a young man from this place, had been killed by a railway train at some small town in Indiana. The telegram was sent by the mayor of the town, and the relatives, who are poor, telegraphed to him to have the remains buried there. His relatives at Attica were therefore very much startled when one day the young man walked in upon them. The story he tells is a strange one. He was struck by a train and picked up for dead, and so pronounced by physicians. Preparations were made for his burial. He was dressed for the grave and was being lifted into the coffin when he suddenly opened his eyes, starting the attendants so they dropped him. For a long time he hovered between life and death, but has finally recovered sufficiently to return to his old home, though he is still crippled and very weak.

Coal Famine in a Cold Country.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—The announcement comes from Duluth that nearly 1,000,000 tons of coal have been taken there, over 200,000 more than last year, and yet it is already evident that there will be a great shortage in the supply this winter. The first blizzard has come, and the towns of western Minnesota and eastern Dakota are even now showing signs of great activity. The report comes from Huron that many people there are preparing to bring hay burners into requisition, and a telegram from Adrian announces that there is not a pound of coal for sale in that town, and distress is reported among the poor.

Miners Ask Arbitration.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 29.—The coal miners' district assembly of the Knights of Labor have issued a circular requesting the river coal operators to adopt arbitration to settle the existing disputes and calling upon the miners to quit work at once until the operators concede the advance in wages demanded or consent to have the question decided by a board of arbitration. The miners want an increase of one-fourth cent per bushel in the mining rate, semi-monthly pay and a check weighman. The strike will affect several thousand miners along the Monongahela and Youghiogheny rivers.

Judge Lemmon Resigns.

CLYDE, O., Nov. 29.—John M. Lemmon, of this place, has tendered his resignation to Governor Foraker as common pleas judge of the first subdivision of the Fourth judicial district, to take effect immediately. It has been accepted, and as John L. Green, of Fremont, a Republican, has been elected to fill the next term, he will probably qualify at once to fill the vacancy.

American Athlete Dead.

PARIS, Nov. 29.—Thomas Potter, an American and an amateur athlete, died Saturday of pistol shot wounds received in a duel with George Carmona. The duel grew out of an insult offered by Carmona in speaking of a lady. Potter was twenty-two years old. He leaves a mother and a sister, Miss Maude Potter.
